After receiving word that another Ris,600 bill of the $200,000 stolen by Antonio Ayala a year ago had been d, officials of the New York cy of the National Bank of Cuba said to-day that Ayala's theft has thoroughly demonstrated the imposibility of passing a large bank note when the person holding it is not known to be responsible.

Of the twenty $10,000 bills stolen by Ayala in Havana in September, 1912, hirteen have been recovered, and it believed the other seven will turn soon. The thirteenth bill was md in the possession of a man named Alfonso, a friend of Ayala, who lives in Havana.

"Ayala gave it to me ten months ago," he said. "I tried to get it changed, but couldn't. Then I thought of throwing it away or burning it, but I did not want to do that, I just carried it around with me." man who knew Alfonso saw the bill, told the Havana police, and Alfonso was arrested.

The bills stolen by Ayala, a messenger in the employ of the National Bank of Cuba, were in a package intrusted to him to send by registered nail to the National Park Bank, No. 214 Broadway. He kept the package and sent a dummy to New York.

Then he started out to get the $10,000 bills changed and was nabbed only a few days after the theft was discovered. Several days ago the prisoner turned over to the police one of the bills, telling them he had been keeping it in his shoe. After the theft, he said, he gave the bill to a shirt manufacturer, who sewed it in the lining of his coat. A man in the employ of the manufacturer stole the money, tried to spend it, failed and finally gave it to Ayala.

Plees Hospital, Ends Her Life.

HACKENSACK, N. J., March 26 .-Menzie Buretta, twenty-seven years old, of Hackensack, escaped from the local hospital at midnight and later jumped in front of a Newark and Hackensack trolley car in the Essex cut. She died at 1.30 A. M., following the amputation of both legs. A few days ago the young woman tried to buy a revolver with which to end her life and Chief Dunn sent her to the hospital. She leaped from a window during the momentary absence of a nurse.
